Executive Summary

GreenLeaf Organics' Q1 2026 campaign portfolio delivered a blended ROAS of 3.12x across €70,000 in quarterly spend, generating €218,655 in attributed revenue from 4,109 conversions. Shopping – Google was the highest-revenue channel (€67,620, 4.33x ROAS), while Retargeting – Meta proved the most efficient on a per-conversion basis (€11.98 CPA, 4.60x ROAS). TikTok and Influencer Amplification drove strong top-of-funnel awareness (6M+ impressions combined) but need optimization to improve conversion efficiency — both channels show CVR below 2%.

Top 3 Wins

- ✓ Shopping – Google generated €67,620 in revenue with 1,127 conversions at 4.33x ROAS — the highest-performing campaign by revenue and volume, validating the product feed optimization done in January.
- ✓ Retargeting – Meta achieved a 4.60x ROAS with a €11.98 CPA and 3.50% CVR, consistently outperforming all other channels on efficiency metrics. This aligns with the 30-day retargeting window recommended in the Acme Retail playbook adapted for GreenLeaf.
- ✓ Brand – Search maintained a 4.49x ROAS with 5.30% CTR across 936 conversions, reflecting the growing brand awareness driven by GreenLeaf's January sustainability campaign launch.

Top 3 Areas to Improve

- TikTok CVR is 1.80% with a €24.34 CPA and 1.44x ROAS — the lowest-performing channel by ROAS. While impressions are high (4.2M), the content-to-commerce funnel has gaps. Consider shoppable video formats.
- Influencer Amplification shows the weakest metrics: 1.12x ROAS, 1.80% CVR, €40.12 CPA. The current micro-influencer roster (8 creators) may be reaching saturation. Rotate 3–4 new creators for Q2.

- Instagram CPA (€21.52) is 35% above the €16 target set in the GreenLeaf client brief. While reach is strong, the organic-to-paid content ratio needs rebalancing.

Recommended Actions

1. Reallocate 20% of TikTok and Influencer budget (≈€3,100/month) to Shopping and Retargeting, which have 3–4x better ROAS.
2. Launch TikTok Shop integration and test in-feed shoppable video ads to close the awareness-to-conversion gap.
3. Refresh the influencer roster: sunset the 3 lowest-performing creators and onboard 4 new food/wellness creators with higher engagement rates (target >4%).
